NETDIMENSIONS AND EXACT LEARNING SOLUTIONS SIGN GLOBAL AFFILIATE AGREEMENT

NetDimensions (AIM: NETD; OTCQX: NETDY), a global provider of performance, knowledge and learning management systems, and eXact learning solutions, a global provider of digital learning content management solutions, announced today an affiliate agreement that will allow both companies to extend the impact of their flagship solutions to their respective client bases.

NetDimensions' CEO, Jay Shaw, commented: "We're pleased to have eXact learning solutions as an affiliate. The company's solutions are a perfect complement to NetDimensions' offerings and will help our enterprise clients with their needs to centralize and standardize strategic learning content and ensure that they can keep up with ever-changing compliance training requirements in different markets."

NetDimensions' Talent Suite is designed to meet the complex requirements of global organizations in high-consequence industries. Organizations in these industries need to meet stringent regulatory requirements and provide customized learning solutions for different groups of learners all around the world.

They need a flexible, multi-language and customizable Learning Management System (LMS). Additionally, organizations in highly regulated industries need robust tools for creating standards-based, multi-language learning content, which can be delivered across different channels and markets.

eXact learning LCMS is a powerful platform that enables the migration of legacy content to create standards-based learning objects, which can be easily updated to keep all the content always up-to-date. By using an LMS such as NetDimensions Learning, the content can be delivered on a wide variety of devices and learning environments, based on learner preferences.

Valerio Torda, CEO of eXact learning solutions, said: "We're excited to work with NetDimensions. This collaboration will enable us to support our clients with a complete learning ecosystem – from content creation to personalized delivery to anytime performance support at the point of need."
